

EXPLORE BOTSWANA- TULI BLOCK-KORO RIVER CAMP

Tuli Block is Botswana's best kept secret – an alliance of several concessions forms one of the biggest, private game reserves in southern Africa.

The Tuli Block is situated in eastern Botswana within a narrow strip along the Limpopo River in the border triangle of Botswana, South Africa and Zimbabwe. The majority of the land used to be farm land and is still owned privately, albeit it has now been touristically developed as private game reserve called 'Northern Tuli Game Reserve

Koro River Camp is perched on the most stunning shady and undisturbed bank of the Limpopo River in a remote enclave of our vast and rugged Tuli concession in Botswana. The layout, facilities, location and our legendary attention to personalised service offers an ideal secluded breakaway for families, solo safari-goers or group travellers. With a maximum occupancy of 18 people, Koro River Camp is an undiscovered gem in Botswana's safari circuit.
